Ada Lace is a brilliant young inventor who uses her skills to solve mysteries. In this book, Ada and her friends investigate the disappearance of a famous painting.

The painting, called "The Starry Night," is by the famous artist Vincent van Gogh. It was stolen from the museum where it was on display. Ada and her friends are determined to find the painting and return it to the museum.

The investigation leads Ada and her friends to a variety of places, including an art gallery, a secret laboratory, and a hidden cave. They meet a cast of interesting characters, including a suspicious art dealer, a brilliant scientist, and a mysterious thief.

Ada uses her skills in invention and problem-solving to uncover the truth about the stolen painting. She builds a variety of gadgets and devices to help her with her investigation.

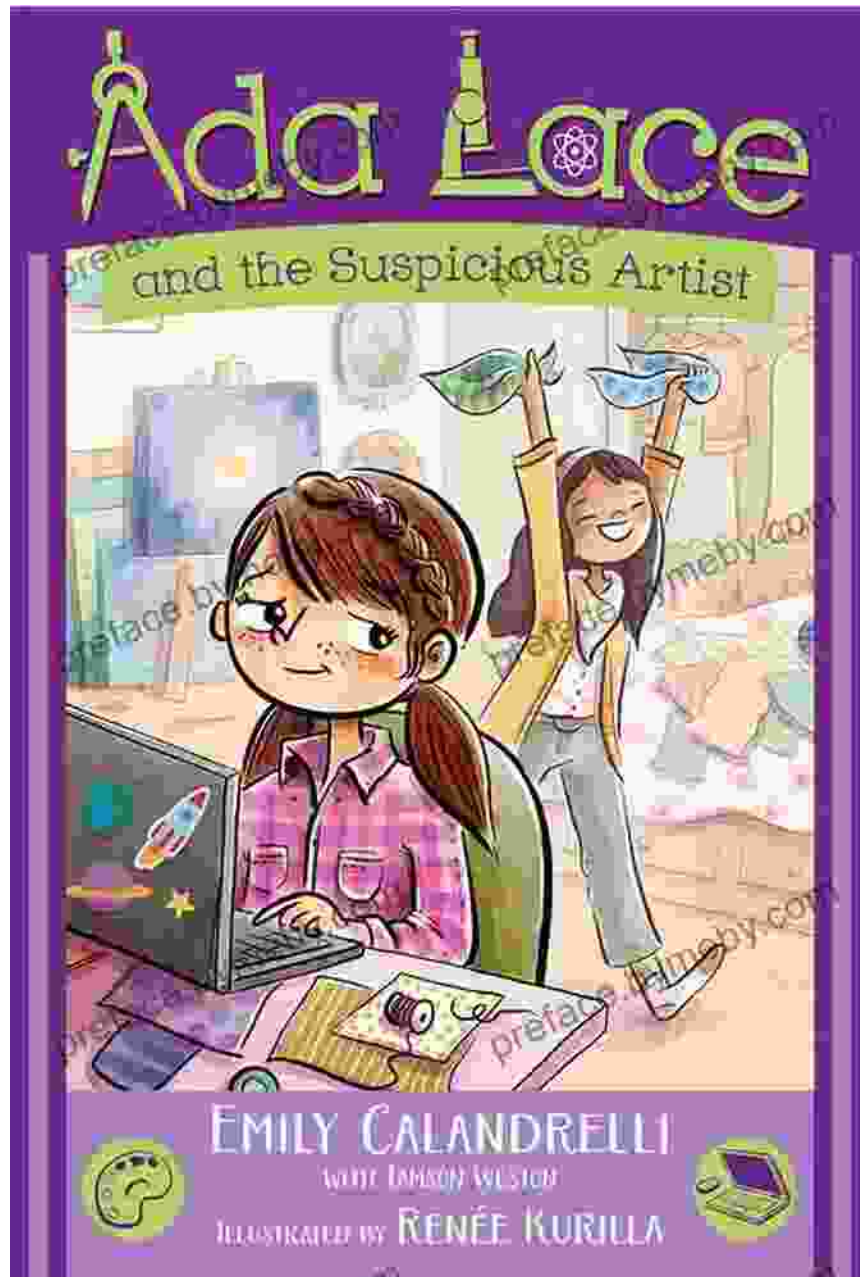

Ada Lace and the Suspicious Artist is a fun and exciting adventure story that will appeal to children aged 7-11. The book teaches children about the importance of science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM). It also shows children that they can use their creativity and imagination to solve problems.
