Their stories are inspiring and empowering, and they remind us that we all have the power to make a difference.

Rosa Parks

Rosa Parks was an African American woman who refused to give up her seat on a bus to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama, in 1955. Her act of defiance sparked the Montgomery bus boycott, which lasted for over a year and helped to desegregate the city's buses.

Martin Luther King, Jr.

Martin Luther King, Jr. was a Baptist minister and civil rights leader who led the Montgomery bus boycott and other nonviolent protests against racial segregation in the United States. He was assassinated in 1968, but his legacy continues to inspire people around the world.

Malcolm X

Malcolm X was an African American Muslim minister and civil rights activist who advocated for black nationalism and self-defense. He was assassinated in 1965, but his ideas continue to influence people around the world.

Cesar Chavez

Cesar Chavez was a Mexican American labor leader and civil rights activist who led the United Farm Workers union in its fight for better working conditions for farm workers. He was instrumental in getting the California Agricultural Labor Relations Act passed in 1975, which gave farm workers the right to unionize and bargain collectively.

Dolores Huerta

Dolores Huerta is a Mexican American labor leader and civil rights activist who co-founded the United Farm Workers union with Cesar Chavez. She has been a tireless advocate for the rights of farm workers and other marginalized communities.

Gloria Steinem

Gloria Steinem is a feminist writer, activist, and organizer who has been a leading voice in the women's rights movement for over 50 years. She is the co-founder of Ms. magazine and the National Women's Political Caucus, and she has written extensively about feminism, reproductive rights, and other issues.

Harvey Milk

Harvey Milk was an openly gay politician who served on the San Francisco Board of Supervisors from 1977 to 1978. He was a tireless advocate for the rights of gay and lesbian people, and he was assassinated in 1978 by a former colleague.

Nelson Mandela

Nelson Mandela was a South African anti-apartheid revolutionary and political leader who served as the first president of South Africa from 1994 to 1999. He spent 27 years in prison for his opposition to apartheid, but he never gave up his fight for freedom. He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993, and he died in 2013.

Mahatma Gandhi

Mahatma Gandhi was an Indian lawyer and anti-colonial nationalist who led India to independence from British rule. He advocated for nonviolent civil disobedience, and he was a major influence on Martin Luther King, Jr. and other civil rights leaders.

Aung San Suu Kyi

Aung San Suu Kyi is a Burmese politician and human rights activist who led the National League for Democracy to victory in the 2015 general election. She was placed under house arrest for 15 years by the military junta, but she never gave up her fight for democracy. She was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1991.

Malala Yousafzai

Malala Yousafzai is a Pakistani activist for female education who was shot in the head by the Taliban in 2012. She survived and continued to speak out for the right of girls to get an education. She was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 2014.

Colin Kaepernick

Colin Kaepernick is an American football quarterback who began kneeling during the national anthem in 2016 to protest police brutality against African Americans. He was blacklisted by the NFL for his protest, but he continues to speak out against racial injustice.

These are just a few of the many protesters who have changed America. Their stories are an inspiration to us all, and they remind us that we all have the power to make a difference.
