In Meet Me Under the Northern Lights, award-winning travel writer Hilary Bradt shares her experiences of a life-changing journey to the Arctic's edge. From encounters with polar bears and reindeer to witnessing the awe-inspiring Aurora Borealis, Hilary's evocative writing and stunning photography will transport you to one of the most remote and beautiful places on Earth.

Hilary's journey begins in the Norwegian town of Tromsø, where she meets her guide, a Sami reindeer herder named Lars. Together, they travel by snowmobile and dogsled into the Arctic wilderness, where they camp under the stars and witness the Northern Lights in all their glory.

Along the way, Hilary learns about the Sami people and their ancient culture. She also learns about the challenges facing the Arctic, including climate change and pollution. But amidst the challenges, Hilary also finds hope. She meets people who are working to protect the Arctic and its wildlife, and she learns that even in the most remote places, there is still beauty and wonder to be found.

Meet Me Under the Northern Lights is a captivating and inspiring book that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. Hilary Bradt's writing is lyrical and evocative, and her stunning photography captures the beauty of the Arctic in all its glory. This book is a must-read for anyone who loves travel, adventure, and the natural world.
