The author, a woman named Sarah, begins her memoir with the sudden and tragic loss of her husband, John. John was her soulmate, her best friend, and the love of her life. His death leaves Sarah shattered and lost, unsure of how to go on without him.

In the days and weeks that follow, Sarah's grief consumes her. She cannot eat, sleep, or function normally. She withdraws from her friends and family, and begins to question her own sanity.

But even in the darkest of times, there is always hope. Through the love and support of her friends and family, Sarah slowly begins to heal. She learns to live with her grief, and to find joy in life again.
