Born in Poland in 1925, Eric Burnett was just 14 years old when the Nazis invaded his country. He and his family were forced into the Warsaw Ghetto, where they lived in squalid conditions and constant fear. In 1943, Burnett was sent to the Auschwitz concentration camp, where he witnessed unspeakable horrors. He was later transferred to Bergen-Belsen, where he was liberated by British troops in 1945.

After the war, Burnett immigrated to the United States, where he rebuilt his life. He married, had children, and became a successful businessman. But the memories of the Holocaust never left him. In 1995, he published his memoir, Surviving the Holocaust, in which he shared his story with the world.

Burnett's memoir is a powerful reminder of the horrors of the Holocaust. But it is also a story of hope and resilience. Burnett's story teaches us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can prevail.
