The iconic symbol of Ancient Egypt, the Golden Mask of Tutankhamun is a testament to the artistry and craftsmanship of its creators over 3,000 years ago. Embellished with intricate reliefs and semi-precious stones, this mask represents the pharaoh's divine status and grants him eternal life.

The King's Throne

A magnificent symbol of power and authority, the King's Throne was a central artifact in the tomb. Made of carved ebony, ivory, and gold, it depicts Tutankhamun and his queen, Ankhesenamun, in various ceremonial poses.

The Canopic Jars

These four jars held the embalmed organs of Tutankhamun. Each jar was dedicated to a different protective deity: Anubis, jackal-headed god of mummification; Amset, human-headed god of the north; Hapy, baboon-headed god of the south; and Qebehsenuf, falcon-headed god of the west.

The Chariot of Tutankhamun

This beautifully preserved chariot showcases the advanced engineering of Ancient Egypt. Intricately decorated with gold leaf and leather, it was used by Tutankhamun for ceremonial processions and possibly even hunting.

The Royal Game of Senet

The Royal Game of Senet was a popular board game played in Ancient Egypt for entertainment and spiritual purposes. The game's board is decorated with hieroglyphs and depicts the journey of the dead through the underworld.

The Golden Dagger

This exquisite dagger was found sheathed in a golden scabbard. Its blade, made of iron, is of exceptional quality and showcases the advanced metallurgy of the time. The hilt is adorned with gold, semi-precious stones, and intricate engravings.

The Great Sphinx

Although not physically discovered in Tutankhamun's tomb, the Great Sphinx at Giza is an iconic symbol of Ancient Egypt that captures the grandeur and mystery of the civilization. Carved out of a single block of limestone, it stands as a testament to the engineering and artistic prowess of the pharaohs.

The Rosetta Stone

Discovered in the 19th century, the Rosetta Stone was instrumental in deciphering the hieroglyphic script of Ancient Egypt. This inscribed stone contains a decree in three languages: Ancient Egyptian, Demotic, and Greek. By comparing these texts, scholars were able to unravel the secrets of this ancient language.

The Book of the Dead

This collection of funerary texts was believed to guide the deceased through the dangers of the afterlife. Written on papyrus, the Book of the Dead contains spells, prayers, and hymns to ensure the deceased's safe passage to the Field of Reeds.

The Valley of the Kings

Tutankhamun's tomb was discovered in the Valley of the Kings, a vast necropolis located on the west bank of the Nile River. This barren and desolate area was chosen as a burial ground for the pharaohs and their queens to protect their tombs from looters.

Through these 100 objects, "Ancient Egypt in 100 Objects from the Boy King Tomb" offers a captivating glimpse into the life, culture, and beliefs of Ancient Egypt. From iconic artifacts to everyday items, each object tells a unique story, shedding light on the ingenuity, artistry, and complexity of this enigmatic civilization.
